

Coronavirus and USDA Service Centers

Many USDA Service Centers are currently open for business, some by appointment only. In certain locations, USDA Service Centers are closed to the public with employees teleworking who can assist customers virtually. Please call your local USDA Service Center for up-to-date information on access.

We ask that all customers consider the below before entering a USDA Service Center:

- Have you or has someone living in your household, someone you've been in close or frequent contact with, or someone you are caring for been diagnosed with COVID-19 or had any contact with a confirmed case of COVID-19?
- In the last 14 days, have you or has someone living in your household, someone you have been in close or frequent contact with, or someone you are caring for returned from, or made a travel connection through a CDC Level 2 or Level 3 country or State Department Level 3 or Level 4 country?
- Do you currently have, or have you had within the last 24 hours, any cold or flu symptoms with a fever greater than 100.4 or acute respiratory distress (e.g., shortness of breath and coughing)?

If you answered yes to any of the above question, we ask that you call your local USDA Service Center to schedule an appointment to conduct business over the phone.

If you answered no and your office is open, please call your local USDA Service Center to schedule an appointment to conduct business in person.

Our customers are important to us. We care about the well-being of your farms and ranches, but more importantly, we care about you and your health.

Visit www.farmers.gov/coronavirus for the most current information regarding USDA Service Center operations.